INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER 1

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

1. Purpose

The purpose of this manual is to provide a compilation of all available order of battle information of the Aggressor Armed Forces as of 31 December 1954.

2. Scope

The order of battle information is presented in parts two, three, and four of this manual—part two, identified ground organizations; part three, identified air force and naval organizations; and part four, reference data. Parts two and three are catalogs of identified Aggressor units arranged by type, size, and numerical designation (chs. 3–5 and chs. 6 and 7 respectively). Part four is a compilation of information arranged by subject to assist in determining the identification and location of units, code names, armed forces post office (AFPO) numbers, and a roster of known Aggressor officers (chs. 8–11).

a. Part Two.

- (1) Major ground units (ch. 3). These include all identified army groups, armies, corps, and divisions. Name and numerical designation of the units and, where known, appropriate subordinate units, commanders, code names, AFPO numbers, locations, and unit histories are included in the order of battle information of each.
- (2) Other ground units (chs. 4 and 5). Army ground units smaller than division size are listed by type in chapters 4 and 5 under two main headings—divisional units and nondivisional units (GHQ). The divisional units with the respective parent organization of each, if known, are listed in chapter 4. Such information as the commander and AFPO number of each divisional unit, where known, may be found under the parent organization in paragraphs 29 through 206. Nondivisional (GHQ) units are listed in chapter 6.

b. Part Three.

- (1) Major air units (ch. 6). These include all identified air armies, corps, and divisions. Name and numerical designation and, where known, appropriate subordinate units, commanders, code names, AFPO numbers, locations, and unit histories are included in the order of battle information for each.
- (2) Other units (ch. 7). Air and naval units smaller than division size are listed by type in chapter 7 under four headings: Air Force divisional flying units, Air Force nondivisional flying units, Air Force ground units, and naval units. Order of battle information, where known, similar to that outlined in a(2) above, may be found in paragraphs 425 through 427 for divisional flying units, in paragraphs 428 through 432 for nondivisional flying units, in paragraphs 433 through 442 for ground units, and in paragraphs 443 through 448 for naval units.

c. Part Four.

- (1) Location of major organizations of the Aggressor Armed Forces (ch. 8). This chapter contains the last known location of major identified organizations of the Aggressor Armed Forces. Aggressor units of division size and larger identified in the Homeland are listed under the army group area in which located; those overseas are listed under the appropriate occupation areas.
- (2) Code names (ch. 9). This chapter contains a compilation of unit code names shown elsewhere in the manual.
- (3) Armed forces post office numbers (ch. 10). This chapter contains a list of Aggressor armed forces post office (AFPO) numbers. Only the AFPO numbers which have been identified with an organization are listed.
- (4) Roster of Aggressor officers (ch. 11). This chapter contains an alphabetical roster of selected identified commanders and staff officers of the Aggressor Armed Forces. Where known, data as to age, rank, date of rank, branch, past assignments, current assignment, schools attended, and decorations awarded are included.

GENERAL

3. Definitions

a. Army Group. The army group is the highest echelon under the Army High Command and, except for the Home Command, normally consists of three rifle armies, an air army, a mechanized army, an artillery corps, and army group troops.

b. Military District. An administrative subdivision of the Aggressor Homeland in which the Military District Headquarters performs assigned functions as a territorial command and as a subordinate headquarters of the Replacement Training Army under the home command.

c. Training Division Station. The geographical area within the military district in which a training division is located. Detail concerning the functions of a training division and of the Aggressor Replacement System are covered in FM 30-102.

d. Armed Forces Post Office (AFPO) Number. A number, similar to the United States Army APO number, allotted on a purely arbitrary basis to each unit having a separate identity such as a division, the organic units of a division, and separate nondivisional (GHQ) units. AFPO numbers are also allotted to the major staff and command elements of brigades and larger organizations. These numbers generally remain constant.

e. Code Name. An identifying name given to army groups, armies corps, divisions, and separate (GHQ) brigades. These names usually remain the same throughout the history of a unit.

4. Elements of Aggressor Order of Battle

a. General. The basic elements of order of battle of the Aggressor Armed Forces are presented in this manual in a series of compilations designed to provide cross-references or guides to assist in the identification of units. Thorough knowledge of the Aggressor military system is essential in order to obtain accurate and timely identification of elements of the opposing Aggressor force. Some of the aids used in determining the identification of units of the Aggressor Armed Forces are the unit designation, commander's name, code name, and armed forces post office (AFPO) number. For example, an Aggressor soldier may refer to his unit, the 20th Rifle Regiment, by its official designation (the 20th Rifle Regiment), by the commander's name (the GULI-US unit), or by the armed forces post office number (the 10177 unit). The use of the various compilations in determining Aggressor order of battle is discussed in b through d below.

b. Commander's Name.

- (1) General. Commanders' names are very useful in the identification of units. Personal names have been used informally to designate army groups, armies, corps, and divisions, as well as task forces, regiments, battalions, and companies. Frequently, even platoons and squads are referred to by the name of the leader. Personal names of the Aggressor Armed Forces are frequently used in diaries, notebooks, personal and official mail, and prisoner of war interrogations.
- (2) Example. A captured document refers to a unit as the "GUTHRIE Unit," and a prisoner of war states that he is a member of a motorcycle unit commanded by "Major Guthrie." The roster of Aggressor officers (par. 468) identifies Major Guthrie as the last known commander of the 142d Motorcycle Battalion.

c. Code Names.

- (1) General. Code names are assigned only to army groups, armies, corps, divisions, and separate (GHQ) brigades. All organic units of a separate (GHQ) brigade or division share the code name of the parent unit. Nondivisional (GHQ) units, other than brigades, use the code name of the unit to which they are attached. Experience indicates that code names whenever they designate major organizations are permanently assigned. Separate (GHQ) units, other than brigades, however, change code names whenever their attachment is changed. Code names are usually single words, and are selected under no identifiable system. Aggressor units in the field are frequently referred to by code name only.
- (2) Example. A captured Aggressor document may refer to the "SANGO Unit." Since Aggressor units are often referred to by the name of the commander, both the roster of Aggressor officers (ch. 11) and the list of code names (ch. 9) should be checked. The roster of officers does not contain an officer named "SANGO," but the list of code names indicates that "SANGO" is the code name of the Ninth Rifle Army. Therefore, the unit referred to in the captured document is the Ninth Rifle Army.

d.. Armed Forces Post Office (AFPO) Numbers.

- (1) General. The Aggressor Armed Forces have frequently used five digit armed forces post office numbers in an apparent effort to conceal the identity of units. An AFPO number has been found to be a positive means of unit identification. The system of AFPO numbers employed by Aggressor has not been definitely ascertained, but experience indicates the following:

- (2) AFPO numbering system.

- (a) The Aggressor High Command allots a block of AFPO numbers to each major component of the Aggressor Armed Forces. It appears that AFPO numbers 10000-39999 are assigned to the Army High Command and AFPO numbers 40100-40999 to the Air Force High Command. Both ground and air units formed in the Replacement Training Army seem to have been given AFPO numbers in the series 00001-09999.
- (b) It appears that the AFPO number initially assigned to a unit seldom changes, but because of reorganization or reassignment to another army group, changes in AFPO numbers occasionally occur. It is uncertain under what conditions units transferred from one army group to another change AFPO numbers. Therefore, in view of the extreme flexibility of the AFPO numbering system, newly discovered AFPO numbers should be checked constantly with existing AFPO identifications.

- (3) Army High Command (ground units).

- (a) The AFPO numbers allotted to the Army High Command (10000-39999) are believed to be suballotted to the army groups in blocks as indicated—

10000-19999	Army Group West
20000-29999	Army Group East
30000-39999	Army Group North
	Army Group South

- (b) Separate (GHQ) units are believed to be numbered at random by the Army High Command from the unused numbers between 10000-39999.
- (c) Experience indicates that a unit transferred from the Replacement Training Army to a tactical army group is sometimes given a new AFPO number from those available to the parent organization to which assigned.
- (d) In normal practice, experience indicates that each division is allotted a block of numbers for assignment to its subordinate units. The size of these blocks vary and no established sequence of assignment within the division is evident.

(4) Air Force High Command (air units).

(a) The AFPO numbers allotted to the air force (40100-40999) seem to be suballotted in blocks as indicated—

40100-40399	Sixth Air Army
40400-40699	Seventh Air Army
40700-40999	Fourth Air Army
	Eighth Air Army

(b) Separate (GHQ) units are believed to be numbered at random by the Air Force High Command from the unused numbers between 40100-40999.

(c) AFPO number assignment practices and exceptions discussed in (3) above under Army High Command are also applicable to the Air Force Command.

(5) Navy High Command (naval units). Information of the AFPO numbers used by the Navy High Command is not available; it will be published as obtained.

(6) Example. The AFPO number 10253 is disclosed by a prisoner of war. By referring to the list of AFPO numbers (ch. 10), it can be determined that the AFPO number 10253 is assigned to the 3rd Rifle Regiment.

(7) Sample addresses.

Address	Explanation
(a) Major Christus Supply Hq—10750	Rank and name of individual Hq Divl Svc Trps 96 R Div
(b) Sgt/Maj Jean Rheims Hq—30128	Rank and name of individual Hq 42 M Tk Regt
(c) Sr Pvt Carl Miller 1/11—10177	Rank and name of individual 1 Co 2 Bn, 20 Rifle Regt

5. Types of Units and Numbering System

a. Army High Command.

(1) Types.

(a) All Aggressor ground units are identifiable by the branch or other special designation in the title. For example, II Rifle Corps, 42 Tank Division, 603 Motor-cycle Regiment. For types of Aggressor army units, see FM 30-102.

(b) The term "fusilier," a designation of elite troops, is awarded to any type division (except airborne, already considered elite) which distinguishes itself in battle.

The word "fusilier" is used in combination with the name of the type of division designated as a fusilier division; that is, 8th Fusilier Rifle Division, 4th Fusilier Mechanized Division, etc. All organic units of a fusilier division are designated "fusilier." Some non-divisional units also carry the fusilier designation because at one time they were assigned to divisions which were awarded the "fusilier" title.

- (2) Numbering system. A certain pattern is noticeable in the numbering of Aggressor ground units, although no rule has been established that is applicable in all cases. Many exceptions are evident as a result of inactivation, conversion to other types of units, for other less common reasons, or for no apparent reason at all.
 - (a) Army groups. Army groups are non-numerically designated but are referred to as Army Group West, East, North, South, and Home Command.
 - (b) Armies. Armies are designated by writing out the number and branch designation in full, as "First Rifle Army." All ground armies are numbered in one series from the first through twentieth; however, all twenty numbers have not been identified.
 - (c) Corps. Corps are designated by Roman numerals and branch arranged in two numerical series, each beginning with I. The first series is composed of rifle and mountain corps, while other corps—airborne, artillery, and cavalry—are included in the second series. The corps in the second series are arbitrarily numbered without regard to type. It is emphasized that no two corps in a series can be assigned the same numerical designation. Thus, if there is a V Airborne Corps, no other type corps in this series can be assigned the same numerical designation.
 - (d) Divisions. Rifle and mountain divisions are generally numbered in the 1-100 series. Cavalry, mechanized, and tank divisions are considered as belonging to the same branch and, therefore, are not assigned the same numerical designation. For example, if there is a 10th Cavalry Division, there cannot be a 10th Mechanized Division or a 10th Tank Division. The same applies for artillery and antiaircraft divisions, i.e., if there is a 20th Artillery Division there cannot be a 20th Antiaircraft Division. A fusilier division may have the same numerical designation as another division of the same category, that is, 16th Fusilier Rifle Division and the 16th Rifle Division.

- (e) Organic divisional units. The separate organic units of a rifle or mountain division, such as the engineer battalion, signal battalion, and motorcycle battalion, and reconnaissance squadron are generally assigned the division number plus 100. Similar units in cavalry, mechanized, and tank divisions are generally assigned the division number plus 300. Auxiliary units organic to artillery and antiaircraft divisions are usually assigned the division number plus 400. The numbering of organic units may vary whenever a fusilier division has the same numerical designation as another division of the same type. Antiaircraft regiments organic to mechanized and tank divisions are generally assigned the division number plus 300.
 - (f) Nondivisional (GHQ) troops. Nondivisional (GHQ) units were originally assigned numerical designations in the 600 series. Increasing need for additional units, however, has caused the use of other numerical series to designate these units.
 - (g) Organic regiments. The organic regiments, battalions, squadrons, companies, and batteries of brigades are designated by Arabic numerals and branch or type of equipment. Examples: 401st M Gun Regt/131st M Gun Brig and 7th Abn AT Co/51st Abn Brig.
 - (h) Organic battalions. The organic battalions and squadrons of regiments are numbered with Roman numerals or are designated by name. Examples: III/18th R Regt; Mtz R Bn/3d M Tk Regt; I/52d L Gun Regt; L Gun Bn/603d Mtrcl Regt.
 - (i) Organic companies. The organic companies, batteries, or flights of regiments, battalions or squadrons are designated by Arabic numerals or by name. Examples: 2/L Gun Bn/603d Mtrcl Regt; 1/III/18th R Regt; AA MG Co/27th R Regt; L AA Btry/54th Hv Tk & SP Gun Regt; MG Co/I/32d Mecz R Regt.
- b. Air Force High Command.
- (1) Types. All Aggressor air units are identifiable by the type of aircraft in the title. For types of Aggressor air units, see FM 30-102.
 - (2) Assignment. Experience indicates that there is no permanent assignment of divisions to corps or of corps to armies in the Aggressor Air Force. It is also believed that control of all nondivisional (GHQ) units, both aviation and ground, has been centralized with the Air Force High Command and that these units are detached to subordinate organizations for specific missions, both in the Homeland and in overseas areas.

- (3) Numbering system. A certain pattern is noticeable in the numbering of Aggressor air units, but no rule can be established that is applicable in all cases. Many exceptions are indicated as a result of inactivation, conversion to other type units, for other less common reasons, or for no apparent reason at all.
- (a) Armies. Armies are designated by writing out the number in full, that is, "Fourth Air Army."
- (b) Corps. Corps are designated in a continuing series of Roman numerals, regardless of type. For example, if there is a IX Bomber Corps, there cannot be a IX Ground Attack Corps.
- (c) Divisions. Divisions are generally numbered in the series 1-100, without regard to the type of division except for anti-aircraft divisions with the air forces.
- (d) Nondivisional (GHQ) units. Nondivisional (GHQ) units seem to follow no pattern in their numbering.

6. Notes on the Use of this Publication

a. The use of parentheses to inclose a unit designation indicates the unit's nonexistence due to a change in identity, absorption, annihilation, or for other cause, and therefore indicates that a certain code name, AFPO number, or assignment no longer applies to it. Parentheses inclose only the name of a subordinate unit when only the subordinate unit is nonexistent.

b. Throughout this manual the data in any given column refers directly to the item on the same line in the basic column on the left-hand side of the page.

c. Two question marks (??) indicate possibility of information shown and a single question mark (?) indicates probability. Where there is a complete lack of information, the space in which it normally would appear has been left blank.

d. For identification of abbreviations and Aggressor symbols used, see SR 320-50-1, FM 21-30, FM 30-101, and paragraph 467 of this manual.
